About the Oregon Friends of C.G. Jung

The visionary Swiss psychiatrist Carl Gustav Jung (1875-1961) was a pioneer in depth psychology who remains a source of inspiration and enlightenment for those who are open to the wisdom, creativity, and healing potential of the psyche. Oregon Friends of C.G. Jung offers lectures and workshops in which Jungian ideas are explored in depth.

Jung suggested that the psyche unfolds toward wholeness over the course of a lifetime, and our public programs are presented in the spirit of realizing this possibility at both the personal and collective levels – through a community of understanding. Those who attend our lectures and workshops seek to enlarge and deepen their understanding of life's challenges and stages with the expectation that this inner work confers an abiding sense of shared meaning and purpose.

Since 1974, our volunteer organization has offered programs by leading Jungian analysts and scholars from around the world who bring their insightful and innovative perspectives to our community in Portland. Our members and our audience-at-large span all walks of life and all levels of familiarity with Jungian psychology.

In addition to our annual program season, we offer an extensive library of books, journals, and recordings of our speakers. We invite you to attend our events and participate in a community of seekers who value an inner life.

About the Presenters

Dyane N. Sherwood, PhD, trained at the C. G. Jung Institute of San Francisco, where she was certified in Adult and in Child and Adolescent Analysis. After graduation, she served The San Francisco Jung Institute as Editor of Library Journal (which she re-visionsed as Jung Journal: Culture & Psyche), as Board member, a speaker for public programs, and as a Training Analyst. In 2010, she moved to Oberlin, Ohio, where she has a private practice. She has published book chapters and articles and also co-authored a book with the late Joseph Henderson, MD, Transformation of the Psyche: The Symbolic Alchemy of the Splendor Solis (Routledge, 2003). Website: dyanesherwood.com.

Jane Zich, MFA, PhD, is a depth psychotherapist and visual artist who specializes in dialoguing with imagery from the unconscious. Her articles include: Patterns of Imagery and Tasks During Dialogues with the Unconscious (Jung Journal, 2011) and The Role of ‘Orienting Intentions’ in Dialogues with the Unconscious (Jung Journal, 2008). Her award-winning Vision Journey paintings have been juried into national art exhibitions, published in a number of psychology journals and literary magazines, and can be viewed at www.zichpaintings.com.

Thomas Elsner, JD, MA, is a Jungian Analyst, certified Psychoanalyst with the California Medical Board, the C.G. Jung Study Center of Southern California, the Inter-Regional Society of Jungian Analysts, and Faculty at Pacifica Graduate Institute. He has taught courses on Depth Psychology and Folklore for over 10 years at Pacifica as well as internationally. Trained as a Jungian Analyst in Zurich, Switzerland, Thomas has been in practice since 1998. Prior to that he worked as an attorney. His upcoming book to be published by Texas A&M is on Coleridge and The Rime of the Ancient Mariner.

James Hollis, PhD, is a Jungian Analyst in private practice in Washington, D.C. where he is also Executive Director of the Jung Society of Washington. He is also the author of fourteen books and the forthcoming Taking Back Your Life.

Oregon Friends of C.G. Jung: Winter/Spring 2017 Program

JANUARY

Dyane Sherwood, PhD
Living in Harmony with the Natural World: The Lakota World View. The Lakota (“Sioux”) tribe’s ancient spiritual tradition situates the individual’s natural world and within community. This lecture presents fundamental Lakota symbols and rituals, as well as a story on the value of feminine wisdom, and explores the differentiation and suffering expressed by people who have lost their orientation and sense of belonging in the world and in community.

Lecture: Jan. 20
7:30 – 9:30 pm
Unity Church of Portland
4525 SE Stark Portland

WORKSHOP

Jan. 21
10 am – 3 pm
Unity Church of Portland
4525 SE Stark Portland

Coyote, the Great North American Trickster. Coyote, a popular trickster figure among native peoples in North America, appears in stories using outrageous humor to teach us about ourselves in Coyote and in others. We will have an opportunity to use art supplies to make a Coyote figure. We will end the day by studying a Navajo story and healing ritual that takes us more deeply into the evil and harm caused by Coyote when his path leads to addiction, abuse, and mental illness.

FEBRUARY

Jane Zich, MFA, PhD
Panther’s Prints: Tracking the Trickster. This workshop will explore impressions of the transcendent function based on her Vision Journey painting series, which has spanned a decade and is inspired by the arrival of a numinous blue Panther. Paintings and experiences during that process will be examined as Panther’s metaphorical footprints to see what they reveal to us about the transcendent function. Applications to clinical contexts will be discussed.

Lecture: Feb. 17
7:30 – 9:30 pm
Unity Church of Portland
4525 SE Stark Portland

WORKSHOP

Feb. 18
10 am – 3 pm
Multnomah Arts Center
7688 SW Capitol Hwy Portland

EXPERIMENTAL REFLECTIONS ON THE TRANSCENDENT FUNCTION IN OUR LIVES.

Excerpts from Jung’s writings about the transcendent function, as well as material from Friday night’s lecture, will help awaken our curiosity and openness to the transcendent function in our lives and in our work as therapists. Drawing and collage exercises will provide visual means for exploring our relationship with the transcendent function.

We will take time to share and reflect on the day’s work.

MARCH

Thomas Elsner, JD, MA
Alchemical Active Imagination. Jung conceived of alchemy as a meditative practice of transformation in which inner complexes and archetypal constellations are experienced as images and then confronted and related to by the active imagination. Writing, painting, dance, music and other mediums in addition to unconscious projections onto matter, can all be used to bring the unconscious to conscious expression. In this workshop, we will learn how to practice active imagination. We will also discuss the way in which Jung saw the value and importance of doing this type of work, politically and culturally, as well as individually.

APRIL

James Hollis, PhD
Living Life More Fully in the Shadow of Mortality. Jung observed that “life is a two-part mystery. There is not just one secret; there is a second secret…’Tis not just in nature; what matters then, is how we live that short space. Given that mortality frames our brief journey, how can we live more fully in its presence without being defined by morbidity, fear, and denial? What are the attitudes and practices which enable us to live more fully? And what psychological maturation brings us to experience this short pause as rich with meaning?

TAKING YOUR LIFE BACK: STEPS TO THE RECOVERY OF A PERSONAL JOURNEY.

Tiny, dependent, and at the mercy of the world around it, the seed must shed its outer layers and break through its protective shell to become a plant. This is the way we learn to take control of our lives. The first step toward this is recognizing exactly where we are; self-knowledge is not only necessary but also empowering. The second step is the recovery of that source. This workshop will focus on twenty-one steps we may take toward the recovery of our personal journey.
