

About the Oregon Friends of C.G. Jung

The visionary Swiss psychiatrist Carl Gustav Jung (1875-1961) was a pioneer in depth psychology who remains a source of inspiration and enlightenment for those who are open to the wisdom, creativity, and healing potential of the psyche. Oregon Friends of C.G. Jung offers lectures and workshops in which Jungian ideas are explored in depth.

Jung suggested that the psyche unfolds toward wholeness over the course of a lifetime, and our public programs are presented in the spirit of realizing this possibility at both the personal and collective levels – through a community of understanding. Those who attend our lectures and workshops seek to enlarge and deepen their understanding of life's challenges and stages with the expectation that this inner work confers an abiding sense of shared meaning and purpose.

Since 1974, our volunteer organization has offered programs by leading Jungian analysts and scholars from around the world who bring their insightful and innovative perspectives to our community in Portland. Our members and our audience-at-large span all walks of life and all levels of familiarity with Jungian psychology.

In addition to our annual program season, we offer an extensive library of books, journals, and recordings of our speakers. We invite you to attend our events and participate in a community of seekers who value an inner life.

About the Presenters

Jacqueline Wright, EdD, is a Jungian analyst in private practice in Atlanta. She is a graduate of the C.G.Jung Institute in Zurich. Jacqueline is also a senior training analyst in the Inter-Regional Society of Jungian Analysts and on the core faculty of the Memphis-Atlanta and New Orleans training seminars. She lectures and conducts workshops on Jungian topics related to love, relationships and sexuality.

Marilyn Marshall, LPC, is a Jungian analyst in private practice in New Orleans. She is a senior training analyst in the Inter-Regional Society of Jungian Analysts and the Coordinator of the New Orleans Jungian Seminars. Marilyn facilitates dream groups and presents lectures and workshops on Jung's Analytical Psychology. Her articles in Spring: A Journal of Archetype and Culture, were A Close-Up of the Kiss, vol. 73, Cinema and Psyche; and Hurricane Katrina: The Tequila, the Kleenex, and the Ivy, vol. 88, Environmental Disasters and Collective Trauma.

John Beebe, MD, a past president of the C.G.Jung Institute of San Francisco, is a psychiatrist who specializes in psychotherapy. He is the author of Integrity in Depth and Energies and Patterns in Psychological Type: The Reservoir of Consciousness. He is co-author, with Virginia Apperson, of The Presence of the Feminine in Film, and co-editor, with Ernst Falzeder, of The Question of Psychological Types. A Distinguished Life Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association, he has written about psychological types for numerous books and journals. Beebe's eight-function, eight-archetype model of type is widely studied and applied in the field. He has also spearheaded a Jungian typological approach to the analysis of film.

Sylvia Brinton Perera, MA, LP, lives, practices, writes and teaches in New York and Vermont. She has served for decades on the board and faculty of the C.G.Jung Institute of NY, and also teaches internationally. Her publications include: Descent to the Goddess; The Scapegoat Complex; Dreams, A Portal to the Source (with E. Christopher Whitmont); Celtic Queen Maeve and Addiction; The Irish Bull God; and many clinical articles.

Donald Kalsched, PhD, is a Jungian analyst and clinical psychologist who practices in Santa Fe. He is a member of the C.G.Jung Institute of Santa Fe, a senior faculty member and supervisor with the Inter-Regional Society of Jungian Analysts and lectures nationally and internationally on the subject of trauma and its treatment. His celebrated book The Inner World of Trauma: Archetypal Defenses of the Personal Spirit explores the interface between contemporary psychoanalytic theory and Jungian thought as it relates to practical clinical work with survivors of early childhood trauma. His new book, Trauma and the Soul: A Psycho-spiritual Approach to Human Development and its Interruption explores the "spiritual" dimensions of clinical work with trauma-survivors.

MARILYN MARSHALL, LPC

Sex: The Flesh and Blood of It
 Jung repeatedly emphasized that a disturbed sexuality was at the core of many complexes that hindered a person's ability to individuate or develop. Addressing sexual phenomena can be difficult because it often brings with it forbidding moral dictates and shadow material that can challenge one's beliefs and ideas about oneself. But avoidance might mean missing the opportunity to invite and deepen the vital energy it can bring. In the Jungian community we tend to talk about sex symbolically and spiritually. But by skirting around the flesh and blood of sex, its bodily sensations, passions, behavior and emotional communications, we lose our connection to the soul's longing, pleasure and suffering. We will reflect on the instinctual aspects of sex, examining personal and collective attitudes toward it and increasing our understanding of the potential role sexual phenomena may play in individuation.

Workshop: Jan. 20
 10 am – 3 pm
 Unity Church
 of Portland
 4525 SE Stark
 Portland

Using the myth of Eros and Psyche, we will continue the focus on the expression and experience of sex: its instinctual, animal nature, its desire for life as well as its relation to death; its aggressive play of dominance and submission; its confrontation with collective ideals; its insistence on a journey to the Underworld; and its conception and birth of Pleasure.

FEBRUARY JOHN BEEBE, MD

Lecture: Feb. 16
 7:30 – 9:30 pm
 Unity Church
 of Portland
 4525 SE Stark
 Portland

Connecting with Culture through Psychological Types

How we make sense of the world involves emotional investments and intellectual frameworks that tie to, but also go beyond, psychological type. Joseph Henderson, co-author, with Jung, of Man and His Symbols, observed that people apply different cultural values as they engage with the world. He called these the social attitude, the religious attitude, the philosophical attitude, the aesthetic attitude, and, a latecomer, the psychological attitude. Using clips from films, John Beebe will lead us in exploring these orientations toward our culture. Participants will take away a new way of observing and understanding themselves and others.

Workshop: Feb. 17
 10 am – 3 pm
 Unity Church
 of Portland
 4525 SE Stark
 Portland

Dr. Beebe will explore how cultural attitudes impact our lives and relationships, and lead us in investigating the implications of the cultural attitudes for therapy. We'll also consider whether it is possible or desirable to try to develop the attitudes that we do not naturally prefer and ask whether we should be working in parenting or therapy to foster the development of the cultural attitudes.

MARCH SYLVIA BRINTON PERERA, MA

Lecture: March 16

Honoring Early Hermes God of Paths and Open Boundaries

We are living in a time of heightened border awareness as old securities of containment and simple divisions of collective tribe and individual ego are forced open by crises and opportunities. We are also becoming accustomed to working with the reality of interpenetrating borders between our various complexes and their field effects in our immediate and global environment. Such open consciousness forces us to new levels of complexity and integration. Hermes comes from an era where similarly vast cultural shifts were underway. His early stories and images shape a presence that can help to orient consciousness today. He represents the threshold where energies and forms interweave, where consciousness rises from and opens back into the fluid matrix of psyche to bring perception of multifaceted order, creativity, and healing.

Workshop: March 17
 10 am – 3 pm
 Unity Church
 of Portland
 4525 SE Stark
 Portland

We will explore Hermes' function as open boundary-marker to wonder about the values we need to find for ourselves and those we are meeting in the ever-widening, contemporary world. We will look at his functions around which to explore dreams. We can share some of our own that may be dreaming us on to a security beyond collective walls and inevitable longing for tribal identities. Please bring your thoughts, feelings, and, perhaps, a dream to share. We will have paper and crayons.

APRIL DONALD E. KALSCHED, PhD

Lecture: April 13

 Unity Church

 Portland

Trauma: Finding the Untold Story Through Film

Contemporary films give a vivid portrait of the shattering caused by trauma, and also point the way towards healing. Early developmental trauma always involves an injury to the capacity to feel. And when this happens, the window to life closes. Overwhelmingly painful feelings that were part of the trauma are dissociated and become part of the untold story that must finally be opened and the original pain re-experienced. We will see As It Is In Heaven, a 2005 Swedish film by Kay Pollack, about the traumatic closing—and then re-opening—of the protagonist's (Daniel's) capacity to feel. Through his conscious suffering, a window to life re-opens.

Workshop: April 14
 10 am – 3 pm
 Unity Church
 of Portland
 4525 SE Stark
 Portland

When trauma strikes the developing psyche of a child, a sacred core of the self retreats into the unconscious where it is surrounded by powerful forces that constitute a "system" of defenses. This Self-Care System and its inner "powers" frequently appears in dreams during the psychotherapy of trauma-survivors. Dr. Kalsched will tell some clinical stories and illustrate his discussion with clips from contemporary films, including Beasts of the Southern Wild, The Golden Compass, Birdman, and Equus.
